Here's Real Speed.
Franklin, Lincoln—If
When Prosperity Pays,
German Dream

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

When you read that a flying machine breaks the record, rushing through the air at a hundred and fifty miles an hour, or a little faster, you say: "wonderful." But the adjective have you for the achievement that "the nebula dryer" is in the constellation of Cetus, rushing through space, away from earth, at a velocity of almost two hundred kilometers a second, the fastest speed ever attained by a celestial object.

That information comes from Harvard College Observatory. Two thousand kilometers means about 1,242 miles a second and is beyond our comprehension, but it isn't really "fast" compared with the speed of light, which is 180,000 miles a second. Light itself is slow compared with scientific thought that travels to distant stars, Betelgeuse, and assures it in a fraction of the time it takes light to travel from that star to our planet.

Franklin Thrift Week reminds that when Franklin was in Europe as a young man, he was asked to remain in England and make a living teaching Englishmen "how to swim." He was a remarkably skillful swimmer, and tells you that he would have accepted the offer if it came a little earlier, but he had other different arrangements.

What would have happened had Franklin stayed in England, teaching Englishmen to swim and gradually coming English. Instead of coming here and helping Washington to the rest to teach the English government to swim back across the Atlantic.

What would have happened had Franklin got the job in the interior department that he tried to get, and had down to earn a comfortable salary, watching others run the country?

What would have happened had Napoleon married his rich widow and persuaded her to buy him an estate in Corsica? Are there any "accidents"?

Newspapers say that "best minds" of the world are turning to the study of Mr. Harding. They are first of all considering national economy, and then, as a rule, representing a class that pays the income tax. This shows the advantage of putting taxation where it belongs on big incomes. That makes the most prosperous and most influential people invest themselves in economy.

When Lloyd George took charge of the finances of England and was the most bitterly hated man in all Great Britain, he served this notice: English prosperity: "You want the greatest navy. You shall have it. It is there to be a slight change. You all pay for it."

The prosperous in England have been paying for things ever since, and you notice that the English are getting down their appropriations, even consenting to do without the greatest navy in the world.

Organized money has power. Make it pay the piper, and it will interest itself in expenses.

In Germany the military classes are delighted with a new submarine designed by Professor Flamm, a great improvement on anything existing. It is protected from depth bombs with armor on top, an imitation of nature's plan for protecting the turtle, instead of the ordinary easily destroyed submarine. Germany could now produce a submarine readnaught.

These speculations in Germany as to what might be done in war remind you of the ruined chamber at Monte Carlo, figuring out "a system" by which he could make a million, if he only had the first ten thousand francs to start it.

More important to Germany than new submarines of any kind of fighting is the fact that the value of the mark is going up because France and England are taking a clearer view of after-the-war vengeance.

Real Germans, that manage the republic and pay the bills of the empire, are interested not in war, but in industry. They forbid export workmen in the dye industry to leave Germany, fearing they may take technical knowledge abroad. That ought to interest Americans trying to keep out skilled and other workers from Europe.

BRYAN NOT TRYING TO REORGANIZE

EXCLUSIVE DIRPATCH GIVES COMMONER'S VIEWS ON HIS PARTY

BY WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

(United Press.)
MIAMI, Jan. 20.—"I am not now urging immediate reorganization of the Democratic party. Reorganization is impossible now, except as to officers of the National committee, and new officers would of course, be in harmony with the views of committee men. I am advising the selection of progressive committee men as the terms of reactionary members expire. I mean those who are in sympathy with progressive sentiment. Prohibition must be accepted as a permanent policy of the nation. Progressives must also oppose Wall street schemes for exploitation of the masses. The Democratic party cannot hope to compete with Republicans for support of predatory interests."

LOBBYING AND LOBBYISTS

Senator Kenyon would brand professional lobbyists and learn how much they are costing their employers. It is doubtful if this would end lobbying in Washington. Most members of congress already know the professional lobbyists in the capital, and quickly get acquainted with the occasional lobbyist.

What isn't known so well is how their expenses are spread: Who is getting it, either directly, or by way of entertainment. The small fine proposed in Kenyon's bill, $500 to $5000, will mean nothing much to the lobbyist who often spends $5000 in an evening, on one bill. Imprisonment would be a greater deterrent.

The senate complains because former members of congress drift into the lobby trade, and make use of their privilege to the floor for that purpose. Congress quickly can end this by forbidding the floor to former members. But this is rather futile, the most expert lobbyists and the best paid, have been lobbyists while they were members.

The Kenyon measure will not end lobbying for special privilege. But if that cannot be ended by law it can be seriously hampered by a better selection of members, and its force can be counteracted in large measure by a public lobby, which is nothing more than a constituency keeping close watch upon its representative's acts and keeping him advised as to what the home folks want him to do.

QUITTING THE FARM

Less than half the population of the United States is on farms and in rural villages under 2500. Ten years ago less than 46 per cent were in the cities. Forty years ago the percentage of rural population was 70.5.

All this has frightened some easily scared souls. They fear the overcrowding of cities and desertion of farm acres. They view with alarm and tremble with each rustling of the census leaf. But unduly so.

There are not as many persons needed on the farms. Farm machinery has reduced the demand for human hands. One man with a tractor can, and does, do more than two with horses did.

Probably the 1920 census will show less than 48.6 per cent on the farms. By then, no doubt, machinery will have done still more to reduce farm demand for human hands.

Those who fear that desertion of farms means food famines in the future forget that the moment when such a thing may be possible that moment there'll be a rising tide of back to the landers. Then farm wages will mount so high that city jobs will lose much of their attraction. In the long run men find their way to where they are most needed. Just now, it seems, more are needed in factories than in fields. Until the reverse is true, why worry about the matter? Why, indeed, when one remembers that when 51.4 per cent of the population were in cities the other 48.6

OLD LAWS IN NEW DAYS

"No woman shall kiss her child on the Sabbath day."

"No one shall play any instrument of music except the drum, trumpet and jews-harp on the Sabbath Day."

Merely two blue laws that were in force in the New England states back in the old Puritan days. Reformers would bring a lot of these laws back into play today.

If these two are included, think of this:

If a youngster fell down on Sunday hurt himself and cried, mother could not kiss "the place that hurts" until next day!

And imagine Tom, Dick and Harry getting out their drum, trumpet and jews-harp to play, "Open Up the Windows, Let the Sunshine In," on a nice quiet Sabbath.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH ISSUES GOOD REPORT

Showing a record of accomplishment equalled, it is declared by no other organization of the kind in the country, the report of the Florida State Board of Health for 1920 has been issued from the office of Dr. Ralph N. Greene, state health officer and secretary of the board in Jacksonville.

Naturally, in such a report, much interest attaches to the item of expense. The report shows that the board operated at a saving of $23,771.13 over the previous year. Total expenses in 1920 were $145,697.33 against $167,469.46 for 1919. A great saving in salaries is shown due to co-ordination of work in the various departments in a successful effort to reduce overhead expenses.

Unequalled Records

Among the 1920 accomplishments of the State Board of Health was a program of anti-palogue effort which received the commendation of the surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service as the most effective in the United States. Bubonic plague made its appearance at Pensacola on June 5, and a large force was immediately assembled there to combat the menace. A rat-killing campaign proved entirely effective.

Anti-Malarial Efforts
 In its anti-malarial effort, the board received high praise from the public health service. This campaign, which is still in progress, was declared the most effective ever carried out anywhere.

In efforts against venereal diseases the board's accomplishments in 1920 was notable. In all more than 10,000 cases were treated and a broad educational campaign was carried on with definite results. The work among negroes was particularly effective and one lecturer, secured through the Public Health Service, spoke to more than 7,000 members of this race during the year.

Officer's Recommendations

Recommendations of Dr. Greene embody a well-planned system of improvements in the board's effectiveness in Florida. He suggests the co-ordination of all health work of a public nature under the direction of the State Board of Health. This, he points out, will greatly reduce overhead expenses and result in greater efficiency. County health boards on a full-time basis also are suggested. He also suggests a state hospital for the medical and surgical care of indigent poor; a state lunacy commission; placing the responsibility of issuance of licenses to practice medicine in the hands of the State Educational Department, which could operate in such capacity through a medical examining board.

In conclusion Dr. Greene extends thanks to the newspapers of the state for aiding in the work of spreading the gospel of public health in every corner of Florida. He states he hopes for new state laws whereby the board will be authorized to purchase advertising space from Florida newspapers instead of being forced as at present "to beg space from the newspapers of the state."

Dr. H. R. Bonner, Education Bureau, Gives Statistics

Dr. H. R. Bonner of Washington, D. C., who is here to take the part of George Washington, the hero in the pageant, "The Patriot of Mt. Vernon," and to address the National Rural School Conference at the Auditorium this week, is the specialist in educational statistics for the National Bureau of Education. His home is in West Virginia and his colleague, Dr. J. L. McBrien, says he has accomplished for the progress of education in this country more than any other man who ever occupied that position. When asked by a News representative for some of the high points in educational statistics, Dr. Bonner said:

"It is well for us to pause occasionally to survey the progress we have made. This survey is especially important in the field of education, since the future efficiency of our citizens will depend very largely on the efficiency of our schools.
"A recent study made by the U. S. Bureau of Education reveals in no uncertain way the educational efficiency of those who have gone beyond the influence of our schools and colleges. It is found that the average citizen of today has completed only 1,077 days of schooling. This amounts to less than six years of schooling for each person in the United States who has quit school. Are we content to see our boys and girls pass beyond the influence of our schools with such an average preparation for the duties of life? If all the schooling of the average citizen could be given continuously it would last a little less than three years of 365 days each. As the average person who has passed the age of five years is expected to live 57 years, it is found that our schooling covers a period of only one-nineteenth of our lifetime. While some may complain that we are now spending over one billion of dollars annually on our public schools, yet this amount is only sufficient to educate the nation for one-nineteenth of the lifetime of its average citizen, who is old enough to be educated.
"This condition can be remedied to a certain extent by a more rigorous enforcement of our compulsory attendance laws. The laxity in such laws and in their enforcement is revealed when it is recalled that we now waste 25 per cent of the school term actually provided. Out of the 150 days of schooling offered each year in the U. S., the average pupil attends only 120 days, or three-fourths of the time. This enormous waste cost the United States in 1918 the appalling amount of 194 millions of dollars. A better compulsory attendance law would undoubtedly reduce this irregularity in attendance resulting in a decrease in the amount of money as good as wanted on public education. It seems only fair to the taxpayers that the states should see that children be kept regularly in school for the whole term provided.
"Another very vital problem confronting school administrators is that of reducing the proportion of children who are repeating the work of the various grades, especially in the first grade. In 1918 it was found that for every 1,000 children actually entering school for the first time there were 1,919 other children repeating the work of this grade. This repetition of work in the first grade is greater, of course, in the rural than in city schools. In 80 city school systems it has been found recently that there are only 530 repeaters in the first grade for each 1,000 beginners. This enormous amount of repetition in the first grade involves about one-tenth of the children attending the public schools—a number greater than that representing the total enrollment in our high schools. The first grade usually includes many children 5, 6 or 7 years of age. At these early ages very few children are required to attend school. Compulsory attendance laws usually operate upon children between 7 or 8 years and 14 or 15 years of age. They should undoubtedly be expanded so as to secure regularity of attendance on the part of all children who desire to enter the public schools. A bad start in school results later in delinquency and often in an early withdrawal from school. When children in the first grade drop out of school for a few weeks on account of sickness, parents do not consider it important for them to return to school that year. This is a serious mistake—it encourages truancy and subsequent failure.

"It is more important to measure advanced educational attainments than to name the average education of the average citizen. It is found that for each 1,000 beginners only 583 will reach the eighth grade, only 342 will enter high school, only 150 will graduate from a four year high school, and only 23 out of the original 1,000 will survive long enough to graduate from college. In fact, so few people are now college graduates that one only finds on an average one college graduate for each 116 persons in the population. Expressed in other terms, one would have to pass 78 adults on the street before one would meet a college graduate. These statistics show that we have in the United States a very inequally educated citizenship. At the one extreme we find only one college graduate for each 79 adults, and at the other extreme, as shown by the Bureau of the Census, almost 8 per cent of those, 10 years of age and over, who are not able to read and write. We are a nation of sixth graders, with superlative ignorance at the one extreme and college graduation at the other.

"It is quite evident that our school curricula are not suited to the needs and capacities of many of our school children. In fact, our courses of study should be so rich and flexible that every child can secure an education suited to his capacities and desires. It should not be necessary for a child, who is not feeble minded, to drop out of school before he is qualified and equipped for taking his part in the general affairs of life and in his own chosen vocation. Recent statistics show that school mortality is much greater among children who do not make satisfactory progress than among those who make satisfactory progress. Between the fifth and the eighth grades seven times as great a proportion of retarded children drop out of school as do 'normal' and 'accelerated' children. What can be done to save these children who are over age for their grade? Surely a more rigid enforcement of the compulsory attendance law will not result in much good for such children. They need vocational work—commercial work, home economics, manual training, printing, forging, etc., rather than the type of academic work offered in the usual school curricula. The school must offer work suited to the needs and capacities of individual pupils before legislatures are justified in passing laws to compel attendance on the part of pupils who can not satisfactorily master the academic subjects.

"The time has probably come when educators must take steps to make a decent provision for the education of children living in the rural districts. In 1918 the average school term in the rural districts and in villages, with a population under 2,500, was only 142 days, while that for cities was 182 days. Is it not just as desirable to educate the country boy or girl as the city boy or girl? In a democracy all the children should have an equal chance to get an education. As it now is, the rural child is born under an educational handicap. He must get his education in about seven months of schooling each year, while the city child has over nine months per year for instruction. More money must be provided so that the country child may have an equal chance with the city child."

Mr. Hilton is well and favorably known for the good professional work he did in stimulating and arousing an interest in this popular sport a few years ago here. All indications tend to point toward a revival during the present season of tennis, the sport which during the past three years has given way to bandage making for women and target practice for men. The professional has been accredited with the coaching of many of the big stars of the day, his technique being beyond question. During his career he has been connected with many of the famous clubs in the North, including the Crescent Athletic club of Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Essex County Country club of Orange, N. J.; Atlantic City Yacht club; Bathing and Tennis club, Spring Lake, N. J.; South Shore Country club of Chicago; Piping Rock club, Locust Valley, L. I., where the millionaire colony finds its recreation in tennis and golf.
During the last summer he has been in attendance at the Suburban Country club of Baltimore, Md.
Since Mr. Hilton's last visit at Seabreeze he has been at Pinehurst, N. C.; Asheville, N. C., and for the last two winters at the Country Club of Augusta, Ga. This is the former home of ex-President Taft and also of Ty Cobb of baseball fame. Mr. Hilton frequently played with the ex-president, who always enjoyed the fine exercise.
Mr. Hilton is noted as a promoter of outdoor sports. He was in Australia with the Davis cup team in 1906 and also for two seasons had charge of tennis activities in Monte Carlo.
Mr. Hilton is an expert re-stringer of rackets and can give immediate service in this department, and he also handles all goods pertaining to the game of tennis.

Committees Are Selected for the Billy Sunday Meet

Preparations are already pretty well along for the Billy Sunday meetings to begin at the Auditorium on Wednesday evening, February 16. Chairman of the various important committees have been selected as follows:

Executive, to be composed of all pastors. Dr. D. H. Rutter, chairman.
Finance—One member from each church. C. A. Randall, chairman.
Usher—Twenty-five members in all. C. A. Eaton, chairman.
Secretaries—Twenty-five members. L. R. Reynolds, chairman.
Delegations—Three members. R. S. Holmes, chairman.
Music—Two hundred in chorus. James Heaton, chairman.
Transportation—S. J. Peabody and George W. Guard.
Nursery—Chairman to be selected later by Dr. C. E. Goss.

W. E. O'Neil, the popular plumber, is the newest member of the Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Chamber of Commerce. He has sent his check to the secretary and he now is entitled to all the rights and privileges of a properly accredited member. He has always been a mighty good friend of the beach, but now he can give his valuable aid officially.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Merrick of Springfield, Mass., have come to spend the winter on the beautiful beach and have rented a cottage on South Palm street, near Marshall Park. Mr. Merrick was for many years a prosperous wholesale grocer in his home city, but has now retired from active business.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Watkins, daughter, Miss Margaret, and Mrs. V. E. Watkins of Cleveland, arrived for the winter yesterday and have apartments at 605 Ora street. Miss Margaret is in poor health and she comes seeking benefit from the salt air. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Watkins and son, Charles, also of Cleveland, arrived today and are looking for an apartment. C. W. is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Watkins.

Dr. J. L. McBrien yesterday received a telegram from Col. M. A. Winter of Washington, D. C., stating that the uniforms for the minute men had been duly sent by express and in plenty of time to reach here for Friday evening's performance. It was feared that it would be impossible to secure these in time, and Dr. McBrien is much pleased to know that he is to have them, as they add much to the appearance and finish of the production.

There was a very enjoyable surprise party given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Balduf of Jewell, Iowa, at their apartment on South Atlantic avenue Tuesday evening. The guests were entertained with games and delicious refreshments were served. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. John Berry of South Haven, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hood and son, Donald, of Jewell, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Willis of Wakarusa, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Willis of Clyde, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Coe of Webster City, Iowa; and Miss Ella Cole of Omaha, Neb.

Wednesday Dr. J. L. McBrien received a letter from Mrs. G. Wallace Hanger, chairman of buildings and grounds for the National D. A. R. Association, in which she said she had been requested by the president Mrs. G. Maynard Minor, to arrange with him, if possible, for the production of "The Patriot of Mt. Vernon" in the Memorial Continental Congress hall in Washington, D. C. At this time the D. A. R. members will be there in annual convention, and there have been many requests by them for the reproduction of this wonderful performance. Dr. McBrien says, if possible, he will try to put the pageant on for them as requested.

Buster Keaton Cure for Blues As "Convict 13"

Another of those gloom chasing comedies that makes dull care a thing of the past comes to the Seabreeze Opera House today and again Friday afternoon and evening, when Buster Keaton, the man whose missing smile makes them all smile, appears in his second starring two-reeler as "Convict 13."

As the diminutive wearer of the comical mantle of Fatty Arbuckle, Buster Keaton more than fulfills the mythical role made famous by the rotund master of slapstick. His years of association with Fatty in the hilarious features have made him well known to the thousands of motion picture followers. In addition to his recruits among the fans of shadow land he is remembered by theatregoers as the much-tossed-about member of the vaudeville team of "The Three Keatons," which for many seasons toured the country.

The slender young laugh maker is proving even more of a sidesplitter in his own fun features than when he helped Fatty knock about scenery and props. His many awkward predicaments and his uncanny sober manner in getting out of them, by twists and contortions that arouse both wonder and amusement, give to his comedies that rarity of unexpected mirth.

In "Convict 13" he starts his career of careless crime as an ardent golf bug who has the inclination but not the technique to be a great adherent of the Scotch national pastime. He pulls shots in this travesty of the links that could only be made by a player suffering from too much attention to the nineteenth hole and makes out of that game of sedentary relief a screamingly funny farce.

Through his all pervading innocence Buster becomes an inmate of the county jail. He forms an attachment for the warden's pretty daughter and under her tutelage develops from a poor golfer to a worse one. Incidentally as a convict he fails to make a hit with her with either the guards or the warden and their many trials form incidents in this double reel of laughs that are enough to cure any despondent and revamp the chronic, unlovely disposition. But while the picture is of the slapstick variety it has been touched with an artistic hand and the rough and ready has received a polish and finish unusual in such run-quakes.

As a foil for the agile comedian, Joseph Roberts, who stands six foot five inches in his stocking feet and tips the beam at 345 pounds, proves an extraordinarily funny offset to Buster's slim five feet and a few odd inches—packed into a bundle weighing less than 125 pounds. The Parent-Teachers' association of the South Ridgewood school had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. J. W. McCollum, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs, at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon. An unusually large number of parents was in evidence, and the audience proved to be a most enthusiastic one. Mrs. McCollum's talk covered a varied number of subjects and as she has been a teacher herself, was intensely interesting and helpful to both teachers and parents.

Florida Tourist- Actress Left Big Fortune by Ryan

Miss Dorothy Lucille Whiteford, of New York, who is spending the season with her mother and friends at Rockledge, just below Cocoa, is the heir to the estate of J. J. Ryan, son of the famous Thomas J. Ryan, to the tune of some $60,000,000, according to information given yesterday when the will of the wealthy man was filed.

The Daily News received a dispatch from the New York Sun Wednesday, asking that information regarding Miss Whiteford be obtained. Miss Whiteford is about 22 years of age, a former actress, and was said to have been a sort of confidential secretary to the late Mr. Ryan.

Miss Whiteford refused to talk to the Daily News regarding the huge legacy which she has received. Her mother, Mrs. John H. Whiteford, also refused to give any news to the press.

Miss Whiteford's attorney stated that young Ryan had left $100 in his will to his wife, from whom he was separated in 1915, and that Miss Whiteford's share of the estate would amount to $60,000,000.

Fruit Exhibit at Schulte's Finest Ever Displayed

By far the finest exhibition of Florida grown fruits, and products of this section, ever displayed here, and equalling, if not surpassing any in the state, is on display in the H. B. Schulte Realty company show window in the Gardner block on South Beach street, attracting great attention from residents of this section, as well as from tourists, who are given their first real insight into the great productiveness of this section.

The display is made up of the products as grown and sold by three well known companies of this section, the Peppy display, representing the grape fruit marmalades, kumquat, guava jelly and guava butter, as sold by the East Coast Preserving company, while the second display is made up of the fruits grown by Albert Steiger at his place on the DeLand road some distance west of Daytona. The Steiger display includes king oranges, kumquats and other fruits, being attractively displayed in clusters as picked from the trees.

E. Ferd. Nordman, the Nine Number Nine grove, north of Ormond Beach, has on display the third exhibit, showing a great quantity of crystallized fruits, including pineapples, kumquats, and other native grown fruits, most attractively shown in boxes and packages, as sold by Mr. Nordman.

Great good is expected to result from the excellent display of fruit and the delicacies made from the fruit, in impressing upon those who have viewed the exhibit the importance of the industry here. The exhibitors are to be congratulated upon their efforts in making the display and the Schulte company upon their exhibition of the wonderful showing of native fruits.

Koyo Room at the Ormond Hotel Is Open for Season

On Wednesday the Koyo Room opened at the Hotel Ormond for the season of 1921. This room was opened last year for the first time to fill a long felt want by the people of Ormond, Daytona and Seabreeze for a high class a la carte restaurant, where they could go and listen to the best of music, enjoy good dancing and delightful surroundings. Unanimous approval of the public was shown by the big success this room enjoyed last season, and judging from the large number of dinner parties and luncheons already reserved this is going to be even a bigger year than last.

The Ormond theater will open on Thursday night of this week with a feature picture, "All Souls Eye," by Mary Miles Minter, and pictures will be shown in the Casino four nights a week, on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. On Wednesday and Saturday nights dancing will be held in the main ball room, and there will be dancing every evening in the Koyo Room.

Many of the foremost men in America after trying other places have become permanent residents of Daytona and vicinity, thus proving by their works that considered from all angles the Daytona section appeals to them as does no other place. For instance, the richest man in the world after trying Southern California for several years and then Georgia, and then spending two or three winters here, has made this his permanent winter home, and has built a beautiful residence on the Halifax.

Many others, leaders in American life, have done the same thing. Probably no other community in America can show such a list of prominent winter home owning residents.

Noted Painter of Bird Life Guest at the Bretton Inn

Louis Agassiz Fuertes, noted New York artist, who has devoted his life to the painting of birds, is the guest at this time of his friend, Dr. Frank M. Chapman, curator of ornithology at the American Museum of Natural History in New York, who is spending the winter, as usual, at the Bretton Inn, Ormond Beach.

The nationally known artist has but recently completed a series of paintings illustrating the life and habits of the flamingo, as observed by Mr. Fuertes in the Bahama Islands, for the decorating of the new Flamingo hotel at Miami Beach, considered the greatest of master pieces in mural decorations.

The painter has illustrated a large number of books with elaborate paintings of bird life, his best well known work being the painting of a habitat group, which decorate the National Museum of Natural History. He has also painted 25 decorative panels for F. F. Brewster of New Haven, Conn., and has a painting of the birds of New York at the State Museum at Albany.

RIDGEWOOD HOTEL

This week there has been an interesting meeting of hotel men of the state at the Ridgewood hotel. They were all members of the Florida Hotel Men's Association, who enjoyed the pleasant meeting and the hospitality of Col. E. P. Woodbury. The business session was full of interest and many social events added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Among the guests were C. E. Young and his daughter, Miss Agnes Young, of St. Augustine. Mr. Young is the proprietor of the Monson hotel, which is one of the several large and elegant hotels of that ancient city. St. Augustine has a peculiar charm that always attracts many tourists who are sure to stop there for a few days, either on their way south or on their return trip. Mr. Monson says that St. Augustine retains all its ancient, physical appearance; St. George, its principal business street, being a narrow thoroughfare of quaint buildings and stores that revert the mind to the days of Spanish glory. Possibly no other place in America so forcibly portrays to the mind and eye the character of the people and living conditions of old Spain as does St. Augustine. Here one will see the oldest house in America, and many others almost as old—picturesque narrow streets and the wonderful seawall that required 200 years in the building—making a river promenade—old Spanish and beautiful modern churches, the slave market, Plaza and all these contrasted with the modern environment of a new city with all the comforts and luxuries demanded by the wealthy people of this day and age.

There was also present at this meeting the following well known hotel people:

J. H. Whitney of Jacksonville, who is president of the Florida Hotel Association.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Adams of Harrington Hall, Ocala.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Urney of the Hotel Urney, Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bishop of Norwalk, Conn., were at the Ridgewood during the week.

Major and Mrs. M. Ormsby were guests at the Ridgewood Wednesday. They are from Casper, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Porter and son, Julian, were at the Ridgewood early in the week. Their home is in New York City.

A. Flint and M. Flint of New York spent Tuesday at the Ridgewood. Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Schell and Mrs. B. L. Ostrander of Somerset, Pa., who are touring through the state, stopped at the Ridgewood as they were passing through Daytona.

MAKE YOUR DOLLARS HAVE MORE CENTS

PUT THEM INTO THE ADVERTISING GAME.

Here is an opportunity to put a few dollars into an outdoor advertising plant, covering every city and town on the fast growing East Coast, from Daytona to Palm Beach. A company capitalized at only $10,000 now earning more than 20 per cent on present investment, selling stock for increasing plant to 3 times its present capacity, to provide space for contracts now on hand for 2 and 3 years in advance. These plants will control exclusive membership franchises in one of the strongest organizations in the U. S. Your money in this company will make you more than 20 per cent per annum and your principal back, in four years, with contracts now closed. Shares $10, only 400 more to sell. For particulars address L. H. Ramsey, Daytona, Fla.—Adv. 267-1-19-3

Fire Chief W. E. French is of the opinion that there should be street signs put up for the convenience of visitors in Daytona Beach and Seabreeze. He says they are mighty few and far between. He says: "Strangers are bewildered and much confusion results. Store deliveries are delayed in consequence. At Dixon, Ill., the manual training class in the public schools have solved this problem by making street signs as a part of their practice." At one time Fire Chief French offered to paint the signs if the council would furnish the boards, but they did not and now he is so busy he could not undertake it.

GOOD MORNING, JUDGE!

Willie Taylor, colored, will spend the next 30 days getting City Island ready for the opening of the 1921 baseball season, unless he pays a fine of $25, levied in police court this morning following a charge proven that he was guilty of assault and battery, Fred Cole and Jess Pegg, two colored friends, appearing against him.

Henry Jones, also colored, was fined $15 or 30 days in jail for fighting. But two traffic offenders appeared this morning, the fewest in many days, Charley Smith being fined $2 for obstructing traffic, and Roy Haynes a like amount for riding a bicycle without sufficient light.

LATEST NEWS OFF THE TICKER FROM NEW YORK MARKET

(Dow Jones Service.)

A Paris cable says the Baldwin firm is financing a big project for the construction of a railroad from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

A French captain of industry says Germany can pay ten billion dollars of France's indemnity monthly, mostly coal, without crippling German industry. He favors calling the German bluff of bankruptcy.

President Rea of the Pennsylvania railroad says the falling off of freight of 20 to 22 per cent from the peak haulages of August and October is the reason for the drastic step taken in making a cut in the working force.

Thomson & McKinnon's stock letter says: "According to the Iron Age, the steel and iron trade is experiencing belated readjustment. This points out that the leading independents have been running from 20 to 30 per cent capacity. There is nothing in the news to interfere with continuance of progress. We must expect profit taking on bulges."

BEING SOLD BELOW COST

Read the following factory letter to

ALL FORD DEALERS

Several inquiries have recently come to us concerning the likelihood of another reduction in the price of our cars, and as these inquiries no doubt emanate from prospective purchasers, we want to state again with greater emphasis that Ford cars are already being sold at a figure actually below cost and for an indefinite period another reduction or change in design is entirely out of the question and not at all contemplated.

We believe the public will be fair enough to fully appreciate the frankness of the above when they consider the extent of our recent price cut which was in fact the equivalent of several reductions in one, in our desire to contribute toward satisfying their demands for lower living costs notwithstanding our sacrifice in marketing our cars at a loss until we are able to materially reduce present costs through lower material prices and greater manufacturing efficiency. While we have of course made some progress in bringing down operating costs, we still have a long way to go before any thought can be given to further reductions in present car prices, so we have no hesitancy in making these open statement to acquaint you with the true situation.

You can therefore give assurance to prospective purchasers of Ford cars that now is their real opportunity to buy below cost and obtain delivery. Everyone is familiar with the heavy demand for Ford cars in the Spring and this year will be no exception, as in spite of conditions, business is already rapidly accumulating, so that many who desire Ford cars will be obliged to wait perhaps until mid-summer for delivery, causing considerable inconvenience and possibly financial loss, particularly to commercial customers.

We expect you to protect the interests of prospective buyers in your community by placing these facts before them.

Yours very truly,

FORD MOTOR COMPANY,
W. A. RYAN,
Manager of Sales.

Late Geo. Lanzius Has Been a World Traveler for Years

George Lanzius, who passed away at his winter home on South Ridge-wood avenue late yesterday afternoon, was an international character, having spent many years of his life in the Orient, and had visited practically every foreign country. He was perhaps most widely known because of his invention of the first all-metal airplane to be put into actual service, and other inventions which he turned over to the government during the late war.

He was a thirty-three degree Mason, being a member of the Shanghai, China lodge, and was equally well known in Paris, Petrograd, Tokio and Tibet, as in America. His death ended a life in its prime, Mr. Lanzius being but 45 years of age at the time of his death. The news of the death of his father had been received by his wife but the day before she was called on to bear the double blow, of losing her husband.

Baggett & Wetherby are in charge of arrangements for the burial, no plans being made at present while word is awaited from relatives who are expected here.

E. J. Mann Dies Suddenly

E. J. Mann, father of Mrs. C. M. Rogers, dropped dead while in the yard at the Rogers home on Fairview avenue Wednesday afternoon, death being caused, it is thought, by a stroke. The late Mr. Mann was in his 70th year, and had spent the past four years here with his daughter and family, coming here from Troy, N. Y. No arrangements had been made this afternoon, while word was awaited from relatives in the north. Baggett & Wetherby having charge of the service arrangements.

Secretary Crosby Endorses Lecture in Highest Terms

Rev. H. S. Rightmire, pastor of the First Baptist church, under whose auspices Dr. Russell H. Conwell will lecture at the Congregational church tomorrow evening, is in receipt of a letter from Secretary S. R. Crosby, in which the lecture and Dr. Conwell are praised in the highest terms.

Following is the letter:

"Rev. Holmes S. Rightmire, Pastor First Baptist Church, City.

"Dear Mr. Rightmire:

"Kindly permit me a word of endorsement of the great lecture to be given by Dr. Russell H. Conwell on Friday evening.

"It has been my privilege to hear Dr. Conwell a good many times, and he is justly entitled to be called 'The dean of the American Platform.' I would go further and say more to hear Russell Conwell than any man on earth. He is at his best in his lecture 'Acres of Diamonds' and a rare treat for those who will, even at a sacrifice hear this address.

"Personally I am sure that on ac-
